United Women
in Faith

United Women in Faith's roots began in Boston, Mass. in 1869 when eight women heard the need to send a female doctor and teacher to India. Against all odds, they were able to raise enough money by collecting pennies, nickels, and dimes to send educator Isabella Thoburn and Dr. Clara Swain to India setting up Asia's first women's hospital and school.

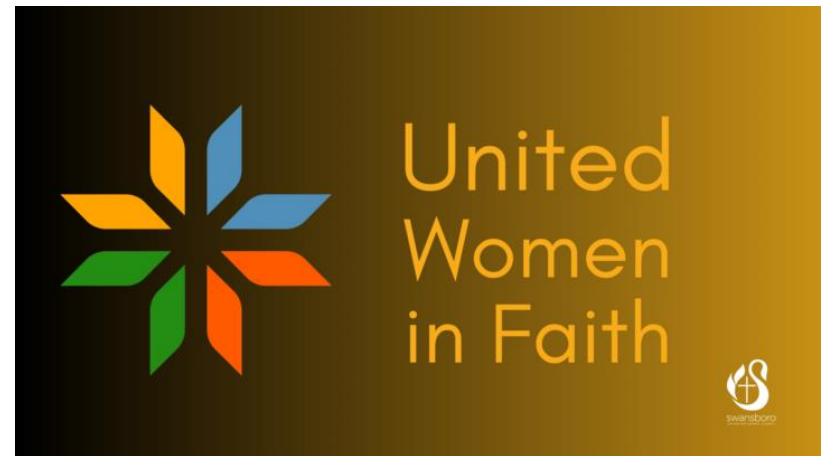

For over 150 years our mission organization has grown from eight women to over ½ million, having 25 different names, while working to provide help for women, youth, and children around the world. Methodist women led the way in anti-lynching, women's voting rights, school desegregation, and anti-human trafficking. They've encouraged girls/women to follow the call to serve as clergy. Women continue to be the faithful backbone of many churches.

Our local unit of UWF has been in existence since the 1940's. Our lifetime Swansboro UMC member, Carrie Freshwater, remembers helping the ladies cook big turkey dinners for $1.50 per plate. At age 15 she walked around town delivering dinners. "I did it my way- now you do it your way, serving God, women, youth, and children."
